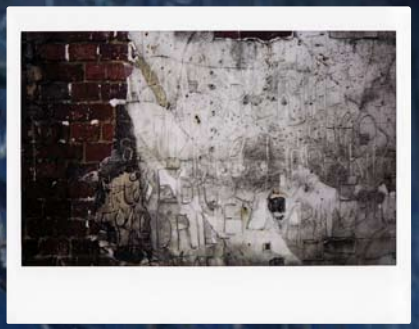
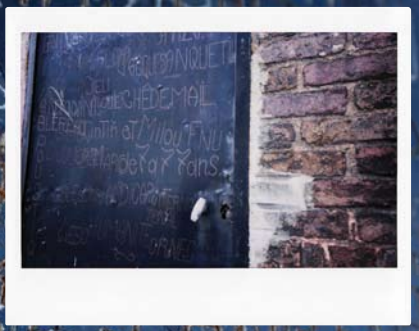
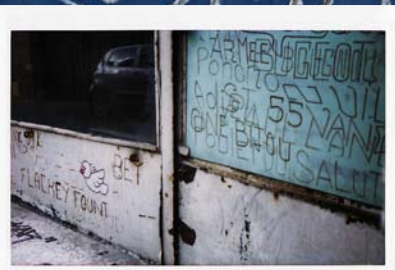
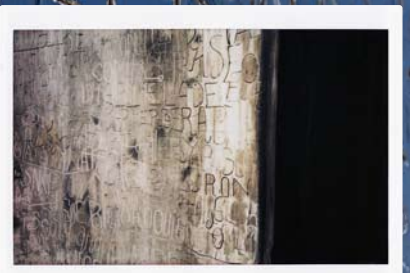
Alain's words

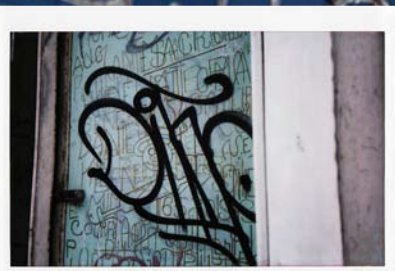
pics & text © Ali La Pointe

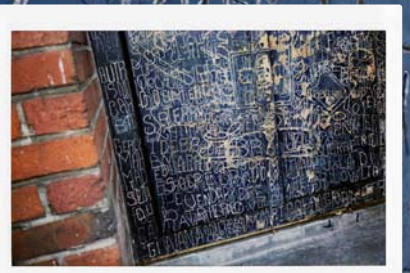






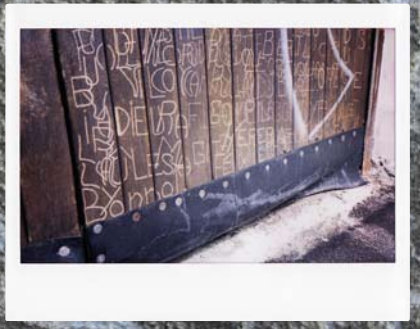






Rouen, France. Alain has been homeless for at least 20 years. He is a famous character in town. One can find him wandering about or yelling with laughter at the passers by. But that's not what makes him an unavoidable character to Rouen's inhabitants.
Alain is no typical tramp. He made the choice to live in the street and considers himself a free man. On a day to day basis Alain is busy working on his "outdoors" pieces.

Alain spends countless hours engraving words on walls, doors would it be metal, stone or wood. To do so he uses any sharp object he finds on the floor: knife, coin, stone...
Wizard of name dropping, being people, places, famous or anonymous characters, real or fictionnal, Alain's oeuvre is articulated around the accumulation of words. On his walls, Ali Baba meets Trotsky and comics' characters and philosophers stand side by side.



Visualy striking, sometimes funny other times puzzling, Alain's work reveals a part of his mind but is no insight on who he is.
Big up Alain! Keep up the good work!
